ATLANTA, GEORGIA, THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 14, 1889.

GRESHAM'S STRENGTH selleved to be increasing in BUSTEAD WORKING FOR SHERMAN. This There is a Strong Feeling in Chicago That Blaine Will Get the Nomination Chairman Jones Interviewed.

Washington, June 13,—[Special.]—The spublical political situation seems to be about the same here today as it was yesterday. As previously named in these dispatches, notwithstanding the overwhelming sentiment in zero of Blaine and the Sherman boom, the thends of Gresham still speak anthusiastically of their candidate and while they do not speak in confident terms of his success, yet they think him among the leaders in the race.

M. Paveon of Illinois, his accordited spokeshink him among the leaders in the race.
Mr. Payson, of Hilnois, his accredited spokesman, said today that the movement in the direction of Gresham was progressing in a way satisfy satisfactory to him. He said he felt great confidence in the success of his man. The impression, he knew, prevailed about here that the Gresham boom is antagonistic to the Blaine sentiment. This, he declared, was a false impression—nine of ten of the men who most earnestly support Gresham, he declared, were earnest Blaine men as long as he was in ven earnest Blaine men as long as he was in the field and if he were a candidate before the convention would be supporting him. They are Gresham men because they accepted Mr. Blanc's letter of withdrawal and they believe Judge Gresham is the best man for the republicans to nominate. The Blaine men of the east will soon discover how this is when they said further that Judge Gresham was gaing strength in the west, and that he had much hope from the east, as well. Besides the entire Illinois delegation, he said that Judge Gresham would have practically the en-Juage Gresians from Minnesota, Kansas, Oregon, Colorado, California, Texas, Washington Territory, Wisconsin and several other states. man men speak with confidence of their candidate, but those who are not his ar-dent friends, while yielding that he will lead with great strength on the first ballot, con-tend that ultimate success is out of his reach. Allison is referred to on all sides as a possibility, and McKinley is frequently spoken of. E. W. B.

CHAIRMAN JONES INTERVIEWED. He Says He Has Not Recently Received a

Letter From Mr. Blaine. CHICAGO, Ills., June 13 .- The central event among the crowds of politicians today was the arrival of Chairman B. F. Jones, of the national republican committee. Rumors were thick that the chairman was the bearer of another epistle from Mr. Blaine. The rumors in circulation were told to the chairman in detail, then the question was plumply put:
"Mr. Jones, have you such a letter?"

answer was flat and to the point: "No, sir, candidly I have not. No communication of a political kind has been received by me from Mr. Blaine since the letter dated Flor-

"Then you have received other letters from him, have you, but not on politics?"

Mr. Jones—"Yes, I have heard from him, but there was no word except what was wholly personal."

"As you have no letter such as described, Mr. Jones, a denial of the statement that Mr. Blaine had indicated to you his choice would be surreptitious, of course?"

"But don't you think yourself that the situation calls for a further expression from him just at this time, when there is talk that the vention will get into a deadlock and the solution will be to call on him?" "No, I don't think so. No person can even approximate what this convention will do. A great majority of the delegates will come here unpledged, and they may be able, after conferring among themselves, to nominate a candidate at the very outset. So the talk of what should be done in the event of a deadlock need not be discussed."

"Just one more question, Mr. Jones. These same rumors have it that Mr. Blaine would not accept the nomination though it were tendered to him unanimously and has so stated to you. Has he ever given any such intention?"
"Most emphatically, no."

This closed the interview. It has made two points measureably clear, that a new letter from Blaine was not forthcoming, and that in the contingency of the convention tendering him the nomination, the delegates would have to look beyond Chairman Jones to learn the Chairman Jones said that he would not accept the chairmanship of the national commit-tee again. He intimated that Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, might be his successor, and that Chairman Cooper, of the Pennsylvania state committee, was also a possibility.

HALSTEAD ON HAND.

He Says Blaine is Out of the Race and the Way is Clear for Sherman. Chicago, June 13.—Murat Halstead, editor of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, came in on an early morning train today to look after the interest of Senator Sherman. He re-ceived reporters with his usual urbanity and talked with the utmost freedom and in his most characteristic vein for half an hour.

to the contrary notwithstanding," said he, "There may be a crank in the delegationthere generally is one crank in a body of fifty, but I do not think there is more than one, if there is that. It will, therefore, stand by Sherman, with Governor Foraker at the front loyal to the choice of the state. Mr. sheman has already a large vote assured—more than 300—and he will grow. Blaine is out of the race for good and all, but it is not to be denied that the Ohio delegation is composed of Blaine's friends, who would gladly be for him if he were in the field, but he is not, and no one knows it so well as Whitelaw Reid, William Walter Phelps, Charles Emory Smith, and other intimate friends of the plumed knight."

"Do you think the Blaine men are seeking to create a diversion from this man or that in er to get delegates on the ground compara-ely untrammelled by pledges?"

"No, I do not. In fact, they are utterly unsettled themselves. They do not know which way to turn."

"Are they likely to turn to Alger?"

"Hardly, but Tom Platt, of New York, is doing all in his power to turn the New York is doing all in his power to turn the New York felegation to Alger, and he may succeed if Depew is not in the field. Depew could carry New York, but he might lose Kansas and Iowa. Harrison will have a great pull in the confident claim which is set up for him that he can carry a state which Blaine lost in 1884, and Harrison men urge Phelps for the second place because he can carry New Jersey, another state lost by Blaine four years ago. It must not be overlooked that this is indeed a stang combination. It will receive attention in the convention."

"And about Gresham?"

"About Gresham?" 'Are they likely to turn to Alger?"

jection to him. If nominated he would have to resign from the bench, and that would give Cleveland an opportunity to put in some old democrat to preside over Illinois, Indians and Wisconsin, and that won't do. The Greeham boom reminds me of the Bristow boom in Cincianati. We did not help Bristow, but we beat Blaine and played hell at the same time Hayes go! it. Why the way we worked for Bristow was a caution. We packed the galleries for him with 5,000 persons who were all supplied with Bristow fails, and shouted themselves hoarse; but it was no go. We had run the boom way into the ground and broken it off."

THEY MAY BURN THAT LETTER, ind Nominate the Gentleman from Maine

Chicago, Ill., June 13.—The most remarkable feature of the situation all day and throughout the evening was the strong undercurrent for Blaine. No matter that he had written two letters declining to be a candidate der any circumstances, and no matter even if Chairman Jones had a third epistle in his pocket making the point again a direct withess to the convention, there were many around political headquarters—men from all Blaine was the coming candidate. They quoted his speech, in which he said that no man had the right to refuse the call of his country if it came to him with urgency and unanimity, and concluded that Blaine would not be the first to yeto his own principle. None of the delegates, or men of prominence, would commit nemselves publicly on the subject.

There was greater activity at the Gresham neadquartes today than those of any other candidates. The register was kept open, and every Gresham man who dropped in put down his name. A good round number were from Many former residents of New York held a meeting in Gresham's rooms this afternoon for the purpose of booming the judge. They organized themselves into a committee to re-ceive the New York delegation with all the hospitality that the party could assume, and then to work in the interest of Gresham. They decided to call upon all former New Yorkers, now residents of Chicago, to lend their aid and voice.

The names of those who will make nominat ing speeches in the convention was a subject siderable inquiry today. General Alger will be nominated by Colonel Robert Frazer, of Detroit, a lawyer and old campaigner. General Harrison will be nominated by ex-Governor Porter, of Indianapolis, whom Indiana thinks a dark horse, and Senator Sherman's name will be presented by General Hastings, adjutant-general of Pennsylaania. General Gresham's name will be presented by Mr. Swett, who presented Abraham Lincoln's name on behalf of Illinois just twenty-eight years ago.

In the constantly increasing groups in the hotel lobbies two of the most observed today were Murat Halstead, of Cincinnati, and Chauncey J. Filley, of St. Louis. Mr. Hal-stead was outspoken for Sherman. Mr. Filley was noncommittal. N. W. Cuney, colored national committeeman from Texas, also attracted a great deal of attention. Harrison and Sherman pictures were generally hung side by side, as close as their respective states.

Fourteen national committeemen werein the city tonight, several of them with proxies in their pockets. The committee will be called to order tomorrow and their chief business will be the selection of temporary officers for the convention, but it is not likely that anything will be done in this matter before Sat-THEY CALL FOR PROTECTION. Iron and Steel Workers Opposed to a Reduc resolutions were submitted by the tariff committee and adopted:

Resolved, As representatives of the iron and steel workers in the United States in convention assembled, representing New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, Alabama and other states of this union, we are in favor of the sentiment, "America for Americans," native and naturalized, and we indorse the words of Daniel Webster, who fifty-one years ago, said if the people can obtain fair compensation for their labor, they will have good houses, good clothing, food and the means of educating their children, and labor will be cheerful and the people happy.
Resolved, That in our judgment the citizens and industries of this country cannot be protected in any way better than by placing a protective tariff on all articles imported from other countries that can be produced by our own people, in order that those who produce them may be better alive to the demand that to which, as citizens and upholders of this government, they are justly entitled to an equable share of the profits of their toff to maintain their families in deen ney that they may be able to educate their children and dress them as they advance them toward manhood, to defend the principles of our system of government.
Resolved, That we are most emphalically opposed to any reduction of the present tariff, and we here by express our unqualified condemnation of the provisions of the Mills bill now pending in congress as we feel that its adoption as a law would be detrimental to the interests of the American work ingment and we respectfully call upon our representatives in congress to vote against it.

Kansas Temperance Union.

Topeka, Kan., June 13.—At the annual convention of the State Temperance union yesterday a resolution was adopted denoucing the statement that a prolibitory law cannot be enforced, and asking that the national republican convention adopt an anti-saloon plank.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, of Iowa, addressed the convention. She said she was en route to Chicago, and in the name of the republican women of the country would demand that the republicans declare against saloons.

Off for Chicago.

Washington, June 13.—Between now and Sunday there will be an exedus of persons interested in politics from this city to Chicago. A special train with Washington newspaper correspondents will leave here over the Pennsylvania road tomorrow morning, and will be followed Friday and Saturday by trains conveying the delegations from North and South Carolina, the rival delegations from Virginia, and the Republican National league. Several private parties of senators and representatives will also leave for Chicago.

Claims of Postmasters.

Washingtron, June 13.—It is announced that the postoffice department is now prepared to consider the claims of postmasters who have suffered the less of postal funds by fire, burglary, or in transit, or by unavoidable casualty since March 17, 1867. All claimants must present their claims within six months after May 9, 1888, the date of approval of the act under which payment will be made. WILL WHITNEY RESIGN Rumor of a Change in the Cabinet,

WHICH IS GENERALLY BELIEVED. cretary of the Navy About to Retir

gians in Washington

Washington, June 13 .- [Special .- The report that Secretary Whitney will retire from President Cleveland's cabinet is generally ac-credited here. In fact, Mr. Whitney, when called upon today would neither affirm or deny the rumor, and said it would be indelicate for him to do so. If he affirmed the rumors, he would be telling the public before he told the president, and if he denies, then he would be assuming that the president, in case he is re-elected, is going to ask him to continue in the cabinet. At any rate, there seems to be no doubt that he will retire. There are numbers of reasons given for this. Some say on account of his health; others that Some say on account of his health; others that he is dissatisfied with the post of duty and desires to return to his private business affairs. Then there are those who believe there are certain political reasons for the retirement of Secretary Whitney from the cabinet. He is credited with all sorts of ambitious plans, one of which is to obtain the democratic nomination for governor of New York. Another rumor goes higher, and says that he is looking forward to 1892, when the democratic party will want another young man as a presidential candidate, and a man who has such strong financial backing as Whitney is said to have Of course, these and other rumors are repeatedly denied by the secretary's friends. But, in spite of denials, there is a belief under the surface, in the navy department particu-larly, that he will not be a cabinet officer much

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

Senator Hale Speaks Against Its Ratification—Other Business.

Washington, June 13.—Mr. Hale called up Mr. Morgan's resolution as to the fisheries treaty and proceeded to address the senate on that subject. He said that Mr. Morgan's speech last week had filled him with wonder, that as a representative of his party and an advocate of the administration he should be urging and advocating the case of "our friends, the enemy." The question, said Mr. Hale, was not a local one. It involved national spirit and national sympathy. There was no man living anywhere in the United States, taking an interest in public affairs, who was not concerned. That out of the existing conditions should come the establishment of the rights of his fellow-citizens who are engaged in the fisheries. He, Mr. Hale, did not propose to assail in detail the provisions of the treaty—unsatisfactory, illusory and comparatively avalueless. as they all were His col. pase to assail in detail the provisions of the treaty—unsatisfactory, illusory and comparatively valueless, as they all were. His colleague, Mr. Frye, had done that in the most thorough and efficient fashion; but the treaty was a failure and must needs have failed inevitably, because neither the administration nor negotiators had been able to seize or take into consideration the whole situation.

Mr. Hale declared that fishermen would correct one surrender in this matter; that his agree to no surrender in this matter; that his voice was one way and was against the treaty. He gave it as his conviction that the desire of Canada to have the American market opened free to their fish was at the bottom of all the trouble. At the close of Mr. Hale's speach the resolution was postponed till Monday, the 25th instant.

The district of Columbia appropriation bill was then passed and the senate resumed consideration of the resolution offered by Mr. Stewart calling for a statement of the sale of bonds since April 1, 1888, the question being on Mr. Cockrell's amendment to add after the word "names" the words "other than private parties." vate parties.'

Mr. Cockrell, in speaking to his amendment, Mr. Cockrell, in speaking to his amendment, read a letter written last April to the secretary of the treasury by Mr. Michels, a Washington journalist, asking that the commissioner of mines and mning, of which Mr. Stewart is chairman, should be furnished daily with a detailed statement of bonds offered and accepted. The treasury department had complied with the request and ever since the 17th of April the senator from Nevada and the journalist mentioned had had a complete statement before them. Why did the senator insist on having the names of persons offering bonds? There must be some reason for it. He would now withdraw his amendment and leave to the senate itself the responsibility of adopting the resolution.

leave to the senate itself the responsibility or adopting the resolution.

The motion to refer to the committee on finance was rejected. Discussion for some time took; a political turn. The resolution was then adopted without modification and without division.

Mr. Blair moved to take up the senate bill for the adjustment of the accounts of laborers, workmen and mechanics arising under the eight hour system.

TIN PLATE REACHED On the Mills Bill—The Debate Takes a Political Turn. Washington, June 13.—The house went into committee of the whole, (Mr. Springer in the chair) on the tariff bill.

Mr. Bayne, of Pennsylvania, moved to strike from the free list senna sisal grass and other vegetable substances. The motion was defeated.

Mr. Warner, of Missouri, moved to strike

Mr. Warner, of Missouri, moved to strike from the free list hurlars, when not exceeding sixty inches in width, of flax, jute or hemp. Rejected after a very brief discussion.

Mr. McMillin, of Tennessee, moved to place on the free list bags of jute for grain. A long debate resulted upon this motion, into which a good deal of politics entered.

Mr. Dingley, of Maine, opposed the proposition to put jute bags on the free list, on the ground that it would be destructive to manufacturers in this country of cotton bagging.

Messrs. Biggs and Thompson, of California, earnestly supported the motion, contending that the placing of jute bags on the free list would not interfere with the manufacture of other bagging, but would be greatly beneficial to the grain-producing population of the Pacific coast.

The motion was then agreed to.

Reaching the clause putting on the free list machinery for the manufacture of cotton begging, Mr. Lind, of Minnesota, offered an amendment inclinding machinery for making twine of hemp or jute butts.

This was rejected, as well as a motion to strike out the paragraph.

The next paragraph was read (tin plate), and Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, moved to strike it out.

strike out the paragraph.

The next paragraph was read (tin plate), and Mr. Dalzell, of Fennsylvania, moved to strike it out.

Another general tariff debate sprung up on this paragraph, Mr. Dalzell opening it with a fifteen minutes speech in favor of protection for tin manufacturers, Mr. Yost, of Virginia, taking up figures showing the imports of tin plate into the United States, calculated that he laboring people of this country had lost 315,000,000 in wages by not being allowed to produce these tin plates as through higher daty. Virginia could furnish everything necessary to make the best tin plate. Sie had mild basic steel and tin, without which plate could not be made, and put the duty at 22 1-10 cents per pound and give the south a chance for five years, and then she could compete with the world. She was demanding her rights, and could get them if the men who re presented her did their duty. The future of the south was bound up in infant industries, for they were infant industries in the south, and she had long enough paid tribute to the north. No man in Virginia could make a canvass the syear on the basis of the Mills bill.

Mr. Randall said the real question—a broader question—was could we produce tin plate here profitably. We could, and he had seen it done. Men who discussed the matter, without reference to labor belittled it, if properly protected, and the natural law of the surply price of tin plate would decrease here. We should let the wage carner of the United States produce what he could produce. It went further. It touched iron ore and limestone and other products, all going to make tin plate. We had long enough drained the country of $16,000,000 annually, paid out for tin plate. We had long enough drained the country of $16,000,000 annually, paid out for tin plate. We dook three-fifths of the British product and he, (Randall) was opposed to favoring a foreign country at the expense of our own. [Applause on the republican side.]

Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia, poduced an old Record and had read a Cincinnati, Obio, June 13,—The procession of Knights of Pythias, this afternoon, was a very brilliant affair, though it did not contain the promised thirty thousand people. Bands were numerous, and the music was very fine Several companies were mounted. The whole line of march was densely lined with people on the sidewalk and at windows. The march in review in front of the government building on Broad esplanade was very imposing.

A SNIGULAR STORY,

Showing a Strange Chain of Remarkable Coincidences.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 13.—[Special.]—The remains of Ben Cranly, the negro boy who was drowned last Saturday at Wilmington by Abram Carter, were recovered yesterday. The tragic death recalls a yet more tragic event which occurred not long ago near the very spot where the drowning occurred. This was the killing of three colored boys and the wounding of the fourth by a gun in the hands of Grant Best, colored. A singular coincidence of the strange fatality has taken place in the drowning of Cranly. He is the fourth boy who was sitting on the log and was severely wounded on that fatal day, when Best got them in a row and fired, killing the other three instantly. The Action of the Third Party on the Proposed Compromise BETWEEN THE PROHIBITIONISTS How It Was Received—Captain Jackson Pointed Talk—Talks With Others Interested—Gossip, Etc.

It is Sam Small'a stir.

And a big one it is.

Everybody is talking about it. It was the sole topic of conversation about the different political haunts yesterday, and even the busies of business men tound time to talk about the action of Tuesday night's meeting of the third party prohibitionists.

The legislative election is involved. And there seems to be decided uneasiness in ome quarters because the facts of the at tempted compromise leaked out.

The publication in The Constitution of the proceedings of that meeting opened up the discussion of the coming legislative fight, and this discussion was "powerful" lively.

CAPTAIN JACKSON'S VIRWS.

Captain Harry Jackson was one of the gentlemen mentioned as having been put in nomi-nation for the next general assembly by the Young Men's Prohibition club. On resterday, a representative of The Constitution asked him concerning the action.

"I was out of the city," he said, "when the action referred to was had, and only returned this morning. It is exceedingly gratifying that so large a body of my fellow citizens as is represented by the Young Men's Prohibition club have considered favorably the question of superfing. of supporting me for the legislature, if such be the fact. This action, or indication of future action, was entirely unsought by me. I am not a candidate for any office. It would be very gratifying to be elected without the solicitation of votes on my part. I have neither the time nor the in clination for a canvass.

"But I do not wish any mistake to be made about how I stand on the question of prohibi-tion, and therefore I avail myself of this opportunity of defining my position. I have always supposed that every citizen of Fulton who attached sufficient importance to my views to desire to know them, was already so informed. But to prevent mistake I give then

"First, When Atlanta was practically under the domination of what was known as "the whisky ring," as it was termed, I deemed it of supreme importance to throw off that yoke.

This was accomplished. Second, I then thought some reasonable adjustment should be made of this troublesome question, by which for all proper purposes, not nedicinal only, beer, ale, wine, whisky, etc. could be purchased in this city. It seemed to me absurd to the last degree, that if a citizen of Atlanta wished a bottle of whisky or wine, that he should be compelled to send to a neighboring or distant city; therefore, I was for compromise. For reasons unnecessary to be discussed, no compromise was made, and the people were precipitated, much against my judgment, into the second violent and demor-

"Third, That conflict resulted in a victory for the anti-prehibitionists. It is sought by some to destroy the effect of that victory by a general state law. In other words, to repea the local option law and force absolute prohi bition upon the people of Fulton by the votes of citizens of other counties. To this I am opposed. I am satisfied that the general assembly of this state has dealt wisely with this matter in adopting the principle of 'home rule' in reference thereto. What may be wis and practicable in one county may not be in another. Let the majority in a county determine. If a majority of the people of Fulton desired total prohibition to prevail, what an outrage it would be for the rest of the state to force liquor upon them. If this be true, the converse must also be admitted.

ibition questi be kept out of politics as far as possible. Elee tion to the general assembly would not be desirable, if that was the only question to be there determined. There are others of grave importance, which must be solved. If legisla tors are to be selected solely because of their views on this question, it might result in dis-astrons legislation, the evil consequences of which cannot well be foretold. "There may be details of the local option act which should be modified or changed, but in my humble judgment, it should not be put in force in any form, except in such counties as may adopt it by majority vote."

"Have we not had sufficient agitation of this matter?" continued Captain Jackson.
"Let us unite in building up our state, our county, and our wonderful city. Here is a su perb field for legislation. The moral forces are always at work, and working wisely. Do not concentrate all the powers of our great and growing city in an interminable conflict over this one question. At present it seems neither a bailiff, nor a governor, nor a senator can be elected except upon this issue. I had hoped that the tariff discussion would create a diversion, but it seems that the irrepressible conflict again upon us. Let us firmly avert it!"

MR. HOWELL'S CANDIDACY. It was also reported yesterday that at the meeting night before last it was stated that a ecompromise tieket had been suggested, which included the names of Captain Jackson and Mr. Clark Howell, Jr. In speaking of it Mr.

mr. Clark Howell, Jr. In speaking of it Mr. Howell said:

"I know absolutely nothing of it, and, indeed, know but little of the late developments in the situation, as I have been absent from the city, in St. Louis, for a week. I have done nothing whatever concering the race as I am too much occupied with my business to get into such a long contest. I only know that I will be in the race and that I appreciate the support which has already been accorded me, unsolicited. I do not favor a statutory state prohibition law, and think the local option law of the state cannot be improved upon, as it gives to every county the right of self-government. But this is not the issue on which I will base my candidacy. If the people of the county think I can suitably represent them in assisting in caring for such of their interests as will come before the lagislature, then I will be glad to have their indorsement; if not, I would not ask it. My particular hobby just now is the Marietta and North Georgia extension, which is of much more importance to Atlahfa than the prohibition question in any shape."

SAM SMALL'S SAY.

The Rev. Sam W. Small left the city yesterday for Chillecothe, Missouri, and before leaving took occasion to say:

"The Hillyer element of the prohibition party can kick as much as it pleases, but it won't do any good. Their conduct in trying to put up a cold deal will recoil upon their heads. They have declined to recognize the third party, calling us republican rengades and so forth, but of course are willing to take our votes. Well, they can't get them. We vote a thousand strong, and won't hang to any party which does not recognize us. We want a full ticket and will have it."

F. P. RICK

CLARK HOWELL, JR., HARRY JACKSON, W. H. VENABLE,

An investigation failed to show the source of this ticket, but it was very generally believed to be the auti-prohibition, or rather anti-state-law ticket. Mr. Jim O'Neill is also speken of as a candidate. It is understood that either he or Mr. Venable will be the which man on the ticket.

The prohibition ticket is believed to be the one mentioned in yesterday's Constitution.

of third party candidates, Dr. J. O. Perkins is the only one whose name has been mentioned.

Mr. Henry Hillyer, when asked about his supposed candidacy said. "I knew nothing whatever of the third party meeting. I was at home in bed when my name was read out at that meeting. It was placed on that ticket without my knowledge or consent. I am not a candidate for state senator and have not the slightest idea of becoming a candidate for state senator. I knew nothing of the third party or the 'ticket' there displayed until I saw the report in Thus Construction."

Mr. James Gray—I am glad that the third party held that meeting. It has made the anti-prohibitionists show their hand. We now know the ticket we've got to fight. As yet the prohibitionists have made up no ticket, but we will make up a strong ticket upon which all good prohibitionists will centar, and we will whip the fight."

Mr. Green T. Dodd said: "The ticket read out at the third party meeting was not gotten up by the prohibitionists of this county. They have made up no ticket, yet, but at the proper time they will put out a ticket which all prohibitionists will relly to the support of. It will be elected and will help to sweep the doggeries out of Atlanta. We know what we are doing."

"Doesn't this thing put Tom Westmoreland and Henry Hillyer in a rather peculiar position?" was asked by a well known politician. "ou will ren ember if at le ywer to leaders at the recent democratic mass-meeting. Colonel Westmoreland was chairman and Henry Hillyer sort o' ran the machine and got himself put on the county executive committee. Now these gentlemen are dickering with the third party in the make-up of a political slate. Rather funny work for democratic leaders, isn't.it."" isn't it?"

How Emperor Frederick Takes Nourishment to Keep Him Alive.

Potsdam, June 13, 2:45 p. m.—The fears entertained by the emperor's physicians that inflammation of the lungs would supervene are for the present removed by the developments of his illness. The emperor now receives nourishment, consisting of bream and whisky, which is given by Dr. Mackenzie several times a day-through a tube, the esophagus being affected by the local disease. The use of the tube being attended with danger, Dr. Mackenzie only applied it after the other doctors in attendance had agreed to its use. Cases are on record where the lives of patients have been prolonged several months by this means. Since Saturday In. Mackenzie has been inserting a fampon canu'a, as a connection has formed between the larynx and asophagus.

8:30 p. m.—The emperor's general condition is comparatively satisfactory. He is able to take strong food without resorting to the tube. The doctors are more hopeful that he will maintain his strength for some time. The emperor received the king of Sweden, sitting on a garden terrace. The Post says:

We hope the emperor will in a few days regain the level to strength he attained at Charlottenburg. Though waging a bitter condict with an lexidious malady, bis mind, rising superior to physical distress, is occupied with a fer reaching scheme for the people's welfare. His power and love for work defy the assaults of disease.

MR. PARNELL'S DINNER

To His Friends Lately in Prison in Ireland.
London, June 13.—Mr. Parnell gave a dinner in London this evening in honor of his colleagues lately in prison in Ireland. Mr. Parnell proposed the health of his guests, who, he said, with the help of their associates, had broken the back of the coercion act. Irishmen had not shrunk from coercion in the past and would not now. Balfour had treated imprisoned Irish members of parliament better than offenders were treated. He had not dared to indict hard labor on commoners, although claiming that he had no respect for persons.
This was cowardly on his part.

Mr. Dillon, who responded, said that the papal rescript was fortunate, in that it showed that while Irish Catholics were faithful churchmen they would not take politics from Rome.

Mr. Parnell proposed a toast to America and Australia. He said that America was solid on the side of the Irish.

The Anti-Chinese Agitation Sydney, N. S. W., June 13.—The inter colonial conference on Chinese immigration passed a resolution to appeal to the imperial government to conclude a treaty similar to that concluded between the United States and China. The conference also resolved, in event of such a treaty being concluded, to abolish the Chinese poli tax and to repeal enactments relative to the tonnage tax on vessels bringing Chinese to the colonies. The Chinese, however, will not be permitted to travel from colony to colony without passports.

The First District Convention in Brunswick.

Five Handred Politicians Assemble in the City-Gordon Wins a Preliminary Victory in the Meeting.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., June 13 .- [Special.] Yesterday the delegates to the first congre district convention arrived city. The Gordon and Nich-delegates put up at the Oglethorpe, while Hon. T. M. Nerwood registered his followers at the Ocean hotel. Both factions neld caucusses last night, and the Gordon men decided to make a hard fight to maintain the two-thirds rule in the convention, while Nor-wood was in favor of the majority rule.

Gordon came to the city with twelve vote Nicholls eight and Norwood twenty. If No wood can capture the Nicholls vote in the con ention, he can get the nomination even under the two-thirds rule, but it is pretty certain that Gordon will share the Nicholls following when There is also a possibility of a dark

The convention assembled in L'Arioso hall at 11 o'clock today. The assembly numbers about one hundred delegates, who are largely the representative men of their respective ies. Promptly at 11 o'clock Hon. Bolling Whitfield ascended the rostrum and stated that in the absence of the chairman of the district executive committee, Hon. J. C. Dell, of Screven, it devolved upon him, as chairman of the executive committee of Glynn county, to call the convention to order, a duty which was one of genuine pleasure, the more so from the fact that for the first time in thirty years the democracy of Glynn county had the proud honor of welcoming to their midst a congressional convention, and which honor was keenly appreciated.

The convention was then declared open for business, and nominations for temporary chairman invited. Dr. Patterson, of Appling. placed in nomination the name of Dr. A. W. Carswell, of Ware, and J. K. Clarke, of Mc-Intosh, nominated W. G. Brantley, of Pierce. Both nominations were seconded, and a vote by call of counties ordered. Pending the roll call, Mr. J. L. Beach, of Brunswick, was elected temporary secretary, who proceeded with the roll of counties, resulting in a vote of 22 for Carswell, and 18 for Brantley. Cartain Mercer, of Chatham, moved that a mittee on credentials be appointed, to consist of one member of each county, which was carried and the roll of counties called. Each delegation named the member of the committee, with the following result: Appling, Graham; Bryan, Letford; Bulloch, Deloach; Camden, Bailey; Charlton, Robinson; Chatham, Ryan; Clinch, Fender; Echols, Prescott; Effingham, Bird; Emanuel, Kemp Glynn, Lamb; Liberty, Harden; McIntosh, Clark; Pierce, Brantley; Screven, Singleton; Tatnall, McGee; Ware, Wilson; Wayne,

Mr. Letford, of Bryan, notified the conven tion that the seat of Effingham county was contested, two delegations being present. The matter was referred to the above committee and the convention adjourned until 3 o'clock The convention reassembled at 3 o'clock, and the report of the committee on credentials asked for further time, which was given until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The committee then went into secret session again, and with an hour's recess for supper, remained with closed doors until 9 o'clock tonight, when it was decided, after examining many witnesses, that there had been illegal votes on both sides in Effingham county and the Gordon delegates were left in their seats. This was regarded as a Gordon victory, of course, and Gordon stock went up tonight, although there is a great deal of uncertainty in the political camp.

The rotunda of the Oglethorpe is crowded with politicians, whose number have been swelling today until there are some four or five undred in the city tonight. A hard fought battle is probable tomorrow

POLITICS IN BERRIEN. The Candidates in the Sixth State Senatoria

Captains Paulk and Snead have, both represented Berrien in the house in former years, and are gentlemen whom the county delights to honor. Mr. Roberts is a strong man, popular with ale classes, and will be hard to down. There arr no pronounced candidates yet for the lowet house, though it is generally understood that the friends of Mr. Will Walker will support him for this position. Mr. Walker has many him for this position. Mr. Walker has many friends, and will be a formidable competitor if he has opposition. The race for solicitor-general of the Southern circuit between Messrs. D. W. Rountree, of Quitman, the present incumbent, and Alex. Jones, of Thomasville, promise to be interesting. Mr. Jones ranks among the foremost lawyers in the circuit, and, having been raised in north Georgia, will doubtless receive a good support from that section. He is popular in the circuit, and his friends are giving him an enthusiastic support. His is popular in the circuit, and his friends are giving him an enthusiastic support. His father, Dr. W. L. Jones, of Athens, the veteran agricultural writer of Athens, is no less popular among the wiregrass farmers than in other portions of the state, and his son will receive a warm support from the agricultural element of southwest Georgia. Well-posted politicians say Mr. Jones will be our next so-licitor-general.

The Forty-Third State Senatorial District

The Forty-Third State Senatorial District Primary.

Dalton, Ga., June 13.—[Special.]—In this, the forty-third senatorial district, composed of the counties of Whitfield, Gordon and Murray, it is Whitfield county's time to present the senator. The executive committee has ordered a primary election to be held at each voting precinct on the 23d instant (fourth Saturday) at which time the people of the county are called on to designate, by their votes, who their choice is for senator from this district. The Hon. Samuel E. Fields and Colonel W. K. Moore are the candidates before that primary election.

K. Moore are the candidates before that primary election.

Mr. Fields has considerable legislative experience. Colonel Moore is a prominent lawyer. Either one would make a good senator. Mr. Fields is actively canvassing the county. Colonel Moore is busily engaged seeing his friends. The friends of each claim the victory.

Colonel T. E. Shumate has drawn the first success in the congressional contest for congressman from this district, having secured the delegates from some of the militia districts in Gordon county to attend the mass meeting at Calhoun, at which meeting the congresional delegates are to be selected.

A Gienn club, 250 strong, is being formed in the interest of returning Hon. W. C. Glenn as representative from Whitfield county. Mr. G. W. Head is Mr. Glenn's opponent.

A Negro in Irwin County Finds Himself Under Hot Fire.

Albany, Ga., June 13.—[Special.]—News reached the city today of a sensation in Irwin county, near Sycamore. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Horkan left their home, and during their absence a negro man from an adjoining place came for water. Finding no one at the house but a little white girl, about thirteen years/of age, who lives with the Horkans, he made insulting proposals to her. Upon the return of age, who lives with the Horkans, he made insulting proposals to her. Upon the return of the Horkans, she informed them. Mr. Horkan went after the negro, and attacked him. He shot at him four times. The first shot was aimed directly at his forehead. The negro dodged, and the ball cut his hat directly in two, without striking his head. Three other shots were fired, two of them taking effect, one in his side, the other in his chest. The neighbors threatened to lynch him and finish the work, but Horkan wouldn't let them touch him, but said he would now give him a chance for life.

DICK AND ANNIE

Have a Little Spat About Some Shirts.

Macon, Ga., June 13 .- [Special.]-Ques tionable circles were somewhat stirred up today over the desperate attempt at suicide of one of Annie Franklin lives in a little nouse on Wharf street, just above Fifth, and it is said is subject to the order of one party only, and it is said that that party is M. S. Franklin, the Fourth street grocer, and from the appearance of things at her home this afteroon, it would look very much as if that report was true.

The reporter was informed by other inmates of the cottage with red curtains that "Dick," as he is commonly known, spent last night there, and this morning about 9 o'clock was sitting in the front room, near the bureau, while Annie was sitting on the bed. They were both drinking gin, and while doing so, a colored woman called "Brisk" came in. As she opened the door Annie said: "There are some shirts I bought you up town yesterday." "No you didn't; I bought them," interrupted Brisk.

"Why did you tell me that lie? I wish you "Why did you tell me that lie? I wish you "Why did you tell me that lie? I wish you would not bother me that way," said Dick.
"Well, I won't then," answered Annie.
She then got up from the bed and went across the room, and got Morrison's pistol from a bureau draw and walked up in a corner. Morrison recognized her intentions, and holloned to her to stop, but he was too late, for before he could reach her she had placed the weapon to her left side and fired. He picked her up and laid her on the bed, and sent for a physician. Dr. Winchester arrived in a few minutes and announced that her condition was very dangerous, and said he doubted if she lived more than a few hours.

The weapon was a Smith & Wesson improved, of 38-caliber. The ball entered the breast about two and a half inches below the left nipple, and just missed the heart. Her life is hanging on a thread, and she may die at any moment. Morrison has been at her side all day, and will not leave, even for a mo-

Macon, Ga., June [13.—[Special.]—Captain Simpson, superintendent of the street force, is at present engaged in raising Mulberry and Third streets, in the vicinity of the new government building, so that they will be on a level with the parks opposite the Lanier house. These parks are costing the city five thousand dollars, but they will well repay their cost by the beauty they will add to this part of town. There is not a wider street in the city than Mulberry, and it will make three of some of Atlanta's, but with such boulevards as Messrs. Simpson and Dunn are putting in, it will lose some of that appearance of the principal street in a little country town.

THE CLOSING SCHOOL DAYS

ville Schools. SANDERSVILLE, Ga., June 13 .- [Special.]-The commencement exercises of the Sanders-ville public school were concluded last night. On yesterday, in accordance with the programme, the morning was occupied with graduating class. The graduates were: Daniel C. Harris, first honor; Miss Carrie Roberts, second honor; Miss Alice Scarborough, third honor; Misses Annie Belle Gilmore, Laura Pounds, Sallie Wichor, Ella Martin and James F. Taliaferro.

After the respective recitations, speeches, etc., of the graduating class, Dr. J. B. Roberts, president of the board of education, presented the diplomas, with a brief but well worded and happily delivered speech.

Hon. Thomas E. Watson, of McDuffle

Hon. Thomas E. Watson, of McDuffie county, the orator of the day, was then introduced by Hon. C. R. Pringle. Taking as his line of thought the startling prevalence of skepticism and pessimism in the north, whose votaries are prone to throw the chill of their own discontent over the brightness, bloom and kindness of humanity, and to judge the entire world from their own narrow standpoint, the able young orator, with an admirable mixture of logic, eloquence and humor, enlarged upon his subject in a manner that provoked loud bursts of laughter, and frequent rounds of applause.

Last evening the music department, under Professor L. T. Whitaker, than whom there Professor L. T. Whitaker, than whom there is, perliaps, no better instructor of the art in the state, gave a most delightful concert to a crowded house. The brass band, which has greatly improved under his tutorship, discoursed music during the evening, and, together with the songs and the instrumental compositions, many of which are the professor's own composition, the evening passed

Meeting of the Sunday School Convention in GAINESVILLE, Ga., June 13 .- [Special.]-GAINESVILLE, Ga., June 13.—[Special.]—The fifteenth annual convention of the Georgia State Sunday School association opened in the Baptist church in this city at 10 o'clock this morning. The attendance is good. Delegates are here from nearly every county in the state. Fulton county is represented by over thirty of her earnest Sunday school workers. The address of welcome was delivered in a very happy manner by Rev. W. H. Strickland, pastor of the Baptist church. It was responded to by President R. B. Reppard, of Savannah.

The morning session was occupied by routine business. President Reppard was unanimously re-elected.

At the afternoon session a most delightful address by Mr. F. H. Lummers, of Brooklyn, N. Y., after which reports from districts occupied the time up to 6 o'clock. The reports were all of the most encouraging character.

Tonight M. B. Williams, state secretary Y. M. C., will deliver the first address and will be followed by Judge Howard Van Ens. of Atsense of the property of the state of the secretary of the secreta followed by Judge Howard Van Epps, of At-

Great interest is felt here to hear Judge Van Epps, and he will have a crowded house.

The programme for tomorrow is an interesting one, embracing addresses by several of our Atlanta speakers, of which The Constitution shall have full particulars.

McDonough, Ga., June 12.—Editors Constitution: Please allow me space in your paper to make some correction in an item from your correspondent of this place in today's (June 12th) Constitution. His report of the meeting of the farmers' alliance run thus:

"McDonough, June 11.—[Special.—Mr. J. H. Turner, of Troup county met the farmers of Henry county at this place and organized a farmers' county at this place and organized a farmers' county at linare. Mr. Wm. Combs, of Locust Grove, was elected president by a handsome majority. There was not a very large crowd in attendance."

Now instead of a small attendance, I will say there hasn't been such a crowd in McDonough since the first Tuesday in July 1886, when we had a large mass meeting. By 7 o'clock of Saturday, June 9th, the day for organizing the county alliance, the people began pouring in every street leading to the town. At 9 o'clock the crowd was called into the courthouse, or who could get in, and a mass meeting was organized, after which the crowd was held spell-bound for an hour by the Hon. L. F. Livingston, of Newton county, who ably and strongly, forcibly and logically defended the alliance.

He was followed by a short address from Mr. J. H. Turner, the state organizer.

The meeting was then adjourned till half past one o'clock, at which time the delegates from the seventeen sub-alliances were request; ed to meet in the spacious new college building, there being no other hall in town large enough to hold the assembled multitude. Even there there was not seats for all.

THE BLACKBERRY.

Some Words of Wisdom and Information About It.

Some Words of Wisdom and Information About It.

From the Albany, Ga., News.

The crop of blackberries was never larger nor the berries more luscious than this season. The copious-showers all along through last month have contributed to bring the crop to a perfect maturity. The blackberry is held in high esteem for table use and for preserves, but the people of this section fail to utilize fully a bounty which is but half appreciated. North Carolina makes annually more than a million of dollars net from the blackberry by sun-drying them. They are in great request, and markets are already opened up. It is believed that it would be necessary in this section to dry them by the use of evaperators, yet it would pay even to go to the expense of buying evaporators and drying the berries on a large scale. It would afford remunerative employment to hundleds of women and children. But there is no immediate prospect of such enterprise, and in the meantime hundreds of bushels of berries dry up on the bushes in this section, or go to feed the birds and animals which feast on them. One of the best uses to which the blackberry can be put is the manufacture of cordial. The decoction has medical properties of the highest order as a corrective and mild astringent, and every household should be provided with a supply. The recipe, which has been used in this city with the most signal success, is as follows: Boil the berries until thoroughly done and strain them. To two quarts of juice add one pound of light-brown sugar, and put in one table-spoonful each of cinnamon, spice and cloves. Boil this until it begins to thicken, and strain, or leave spices if wished. When cold, add one-fourth as much brandy or good whisky as there is syrup, and bottle and seal well.

Atlanta, Atlantic and Great Western.

Colonel George T. Fry, of the Atlanta, Atlantic and Great Western, left for New York yesterday afternoon, and before entering the train at the union depot he said:

"I go to New York to execute the mortgage to secure the $3,000,000 of bonds already sold. The bonds were all placed by me on the 17th of May, when I was then in New York. On this trip I shall only be in New York one day, and will be back in Atlanta by the middle of next week. The bonds are now being engraved by the New York Bank Note company and are to be finished on the 15th day of July, at which time I will go to New York with the secretary of the company to sign the bonds and deliver them to the Mercantile Trust company for the use and benefit of the purchasers, Messrs. S. Morris Pryor & Co."

The trustees of the State Technological school could not have done better than they did when they elected Professor Charles Lane, of Macon, as professor of English. Professor Lane graduated at Emory college in 1869, and has since that time made a career as a teacher which entitles him to the high honor he has just received. For the past eight years he has lived in Macon. Four years excellent service in the city high school led to his election as principal of the Alexander free school, and in that position he has endeared himself alike to trustees, patrons and pupils. We have only one objection to his election to the chair of English in the State School of Technology and it is that it will deprive the schools of Macon of one of their most useful instructors and the society of Macon of one of its most cherished members.

THROUGH THE CITY.

There will be a mass meeting of colored people at Bethel A. M. E. church this evening at 8 o'clock sharp to urge the representatives in congress from Georgia to press the consideration and passage at this session of congress of the bill to encourage the holding of a national colored exposition in this city next autumn. Addresses will be made by Bishop W. J. Gaines, Rev. J. S. Flipper, Professor L. M. Hershaw, Professor A. Graves, H. A. Rucker, Captain R. J. Henry, Captain C. C. Wimbush, J. H. Blackshear, H. H. Williams, W. A. Pledger and others.

The Fulton county delegation to the Sunday-school convention went up to Gainesville yesterday. A large portion of the delegation—which is composed of about twenty-five persons—left on the early morning train. Every train up the Richmond and Danville, however, carried delegates out of the city. Among those who went up were Hen. Howard Van Epps, Mr. J. C. Kimball, Professor Thirkield, Judge James A. Anderson, Major Sydney Root, Rev. N. Keff Smith, Mr. A. C. Briscoe.

THE CONSTITUTION, Ar J. J. Flynn, General Eastern Agent,

Park Row, New York City. ATLANTA, GA., JUNE 14, 1888.

Quibbling About the Platform.

We clip the following from the Nashville American, which paper has occupied very much the same position as that of THE CONSTITUTION as regards the tariff ques his speech at St. Louis Mr. Watterson is thus The president's message has committed the party of free trade, and any declaration that is not in accordance with the message will discredit the party.

This is the slogan that the enthusiastic and un thinking have taken as a guide, and they have been ranting in that same line ever since the plain form was adopted. If defeat comes to us in Novem-ber it will be because these enthusiastic free trade rats have accepted a republican reading of

This is not the time to quibble about the platform. While THE CONSTITUTION differed with the policy which made the president's message the tariff plank of the party it accepts the situation in good earnest and yields gracefully to the action of the party, though the step which it took went further than what we thought to be within the bounds of wisdom. Be this as it may. there is no question but that the president's message has been made the real platform of the party, and it should be so accepted by

The message, however, does not commit the party to free trade; and it is but just to Mr. Watterson to say that he denies having made the above statement in its literal acceptance. Even the extremists in the St. Louis convention did not advocate "free trade;" but Mr. Watterson and those who were with him were in favor of "freer trade." It will be observed that there is quite a distinction in the two terms. THE CONSTITUTION is also in favor of freer trade, but not as free as that advocated by Mr. Watterson and others. Mr. Randall is for freer trade, but he thinks it unwise to go to the extent which would please Mr. Watterson. This has been the only difference, but the work of the convention should be the final adjustment of the question.

The platform adopted does not represen the views which have been urged by the American, and it is an injustice to the party for the American to put itself in the osition of claiming that its policy was indorsed, instead of that contended for by Watterson, Mr. Morrison, Mr. Scott

The campaign must be fought on the president's message as far as the tariff is concerned, and the sooner all democratic papers accept it the better it will be for the party. Defeat will not "come to us in November," for the people realize the fact that only to the democracy must they look for four years more of prosperity and honest government, and for the obliteration of sectional issues. These are of much more importance than the tariff.

LOVERS of notoriety will do well to consider a few points suggested by a recent writer on the subject. Not one person in a thousand can name the present governors of the states or even half of them. They cannot name more than a score of congressmen. Not more than a dozen editors are known all over the country. Comparatively few names in literature are talked about. Many of the ablest professional men are not society people who are crazy to attract the ion of the public are not widely known, and they are soon forgotten. The men and women who lead the happiest lives shun notoriety, and devote themselves to their business and their homes.

The Judge and the Novelist. Chief Justice Horton, of the Kansas supreme court, in delivering a recent dequoted liberally from Stevenson's "Dr. Jekvll and Mr. Hyde."

The case was a notable one. It appears that J. H. Yarborough while drunk shot and killed his friend, Collier, a son of the famous preacher Dr. Robert Laird Collier. He was convicted of murder, a motion for a new trial was overruled, and the case was appealed to the supreme court, the main ground being the lack of premeditation on the part of the murderer by reason of his intoxicated condition.

The supreme court affirmed the decision of the lower court. After referring to the well-settled doctrine of the law that drunkenness is no excuse for crime, the chies Convsel assert that when the defendant was only Coupsel assert that when the defendant was only a little drunk, he became wild and ungovernable. It seems that while he indulged in drinking intoxicating liquor, even to a slight degree, he became a second Mr. Hyde. Upon this account it is urged that he should be dealt with more leniently. If the story of Dr. Jekyll was true, rather than a fanciful one, Dr. Jekyll, according to the theory of counsel, ought not to have been responsible for the murder of Sir Danwers Carew, although he voluntarily drank the potion that so powerfully centrolled and of Sir Danvers Carew, although he voluntarily drank the potion that so powerfully controlled and shook the very fortress of his identity.

Dr. Jekyll, like Yarborough, when not under the influence of the fatal potion, which he accustomed himself to driek, was of a very kind disposition and of unusual amiability. After drinking the daug, or tineture, he doffed at once the body of the moted professor and assumed, like a thick cloak, that of Mr. Hyde. His pleasures then turned toward the monstrous, and his whole being, as Mr. Hyde, was inherently malign, brutish and wicked. At such times the kindness and virtues of Dr. Jekyll slumbored, but the evil of Mr. Hyde was alert and swift to seize the occasion. Should it be said that Dr. Jekyll was not responsible and that Mr. Hyde after all, and Mr. Hyde alone, was the guilty one? Yarborough is not to be relieved from responsibility because he did not get drunk with the thought of a difficulty with Collier. Dr. Jekyll did not drink the drug, changing his character. alty with Collier. Dr. Jekyll did not driv the drug, changing his character to one wholly evil, for the purpose of injuring the shild he cruelly trampled upon, nor to take the life of Sir Danvers; but in that case, as in this, a wicked and depressed disposition. disposition was developed, or produced by the voluntary act of the party. If the indulgence in a untary act of the party. If the indulgence in a slight degree awoke in the defendant the spirit of hell, he should have refrained from touching the intoxicating draught; he should have chosen the better part and not been found wanting in strength to keen it.

It must be admitted that the learned judge used the illustrations drawn from Mr. enson's story with powerful effect. Perhaps, after all, the novelist wrote "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in the interests of the temperance cause. At all events the tale admirably serves such a purpose, and the speakers and writers on that side of the n are likely to make as good use of it as the Kansas chief justice. Fancy sometimes throws a flood of light over fac truth sometimes finds it necessary to borrow from fiction. And yet it is a strange thing to see a judge turning aside from his dusty volumes of law reports to draw the explanatory part of his decision from the thrilling pages of the most fascinating story writer of the day.

THE old Roman and his red hankcher are beginning to worry our republican friends no little.

A NEW HAVEN horse fell dead the other day at sight of an elephant. We therefore dvise the republican donkey to steer clear of the democratic elephant.

The Curiosities of Human Nature. A contemporary is responsible for the tatement that some of the largest railroads in the country employ special agents whose ousiness it is to inform a bereaved family when an employe has been killed. The man who undertakes such a mission has a very unpleasant job. He must have self-control, tact, delicacy and sympathy. An old railroad man, who has been in this ine of business a long time, says that he once went to a little cottage to tell a young wife that her husband had been killed or the road. He found the lady at work among her roses, singing like a lark. He simply asked her if her husband was at home. The woman stared at him, turned as white as a piece of chalk, and fell down in a dead faint. When she revived she shrieked out that her husband was dead. "Who told you?" asked the messenger. "Nobody, but I thought so. Is it true?" Another time he called on a woman with similar piece of news. The wife curled her lip and said. "If he has been killed heaven has revenged me. He abused me long enough. He will abuse no more women now." The railroad man was congratulating himself with getting through so easily, when to his consternation the woman's lip went off into a violent fit of hysterics. Now this is genuine human nature. Here we have in the one instance the wonderful prescience of a loving woman's intuitions, and in the other we have the quick forgiveness of a wronged wife when she realized the nature of her husband's fate. This is merely a leaf from every day life. But it beats anything that the novelists give us. It is evident that our so called realistic writers have missed much that is pathetic and suggestive in the curiosities of human

THE Blaine men never tire. They are now proposing to nominate the white plumed knight anyhow.

The Bloody Shirters at Work. The republicans have already begun bloody shirt campaign.

Such papers as the St. Louis Globe-Dem crat, the Cincinnatt Commercial Gazette, the Philadelphia Press and others, in desperation at the nomination of Mr. Thurnan, and failing to find anything genuine on which to attack him, have resorted to the usual bloody shirt policy, and are charging him with having been unfaithful to the

This is not more than was expected, but the democracy is to be congratulated in having such charges directed against a man who can as well afford to bear them as Mr. Thurman. The Globe-Democrat, unable to attack his magnificent personal qualities, plunges into his record as a statesman, and the worst that it can say of him is that he has at all times stood by his party. It

Roman, though it was not intended as such. It calls to his support every democrat in the country, and as the people have indorsed the democratic party by putting it in power, it is not at all improbable that they will fail to indorse a man who, ever since 1834, has 'steadily and unqualifiedly' been true to the party in which they have placed so much confidence as to turn over to it the administration of the affairs of the nation. Mr. Thurman's grandest recommendation is his unswerving fidelity to his party, and the bloody shirters are welcome to all they can make out of it.

EDITOR HALSTEAD says that Thurman s merely an incident. And yet this mere incident appears to be creating a sensation in the republican camp.

A Notable Speech.

Of the speeches delivered in the St. Louis convention none made a greater impression than that of Hon. James A. McKenzie, of Kentucky, whose admirable effort in second ing the nomination of President Cleveland as probably been noticed by the press more than any other speech of the occasion.

Colonel McKenzie's speech fairly captured the vast audience which heard it, and his magnificent delivery interested every person in the immense hall. Everybody received the benefit of it, whether near the speaker or at the other extreme of the great hall. His effort was characterized in his purely original style, and though he was notified of the action of the New York delegation in requesting him to second the nomination of Mr. Cleveland, but thirty minutes before Mr. Dougherty placed the president's name before the convention, yet he succeeded in interesting the audien to a more marked extent than any other speaker in the convention, with the possible exception of Mr. Dougherty, with whom he shared the honors of the day.

This would be very bad, if true, but fortunately Governor ray and his friends are not made out of that kind of stuff. The governor announces that he is heart and soul for the ticket, and that Indiana will be safe for the democracy. He says that he will leave nothing undone to obtain the full democratic vote of the state for Cleveland and Thurman. The culprit pricked up his ears as the words

Sallie Aughtman, wife No. 2, was examined at some length. She gave an account of her marriage with Fleming.

The defendant was permitted to make his statement, not under oath. This he did in a squeaky voice and nervous manner. He was on the stand about half an hour, and gave a narrative, which, had the jury believed it, would have secured his acquittal.

Colonel W. H. Hulsey made the opening argument for the defendant. He spoke with gument for the defendant. He spoke with great earnestness, and his speech seemed to

HE WANTS $25,000. An Interesting Damage Suit on Trial in the City Court.

City Court.

"If a man's shoulder is worth $25,000, how much is his whole body worth?" one lawyer asked of another yesterday.

The query was suggested by a case in the city court. It is a suit for damages, and is rather peculiar.

Whilst engaged in his customary work as fireman on one of the locomotives of the Westtern and Atlantic Railroad company Mr. J. J. Cook, a stalwart mechanic, was seriously lurt. One of the steam cocks of the engine blew out with terrific force, striking Cook on the shoulder, he alleges, and inflicting an injury which gave him excructating pain and which will always incapacitate him for manual labor. He can not, he asserts, lift his arm. He insists that he was not responsible for the accident; that it was the result of gross carelessness on the part of the company's servlessness on the part of the compa For this reason he believes the company should pay him liberally. He placed his case in the bands of Mr. Hoke Smith. A suit for $25,000 damages was instituted against the Western and Atlantic Railroad company.

The witness, as he went upon the stand, held a small box in his hand. It looked like a music box. The plaintiff had alleged that he could not raise his arm in consequence of the injuries to his shoulder, and Dr. Cooper wished to apply a test which would prove conclusively whether this was true. Blaine on Thurman

In his "Twenty Years in Congress" ex-Sena-tor James G. Blaine wrote of ex-Senator Allen G. Thurman as follows: His rank in the senate was established from the day he took his seat, and was never lowered during the period of his services. He was an admira sciplined debater, was fair in his method of state ent, logical in his argument, honest in his conclu-ons. He had no trick in discussion, no catch sions. He had no trick in discussion, no catch phrases to secure attention, but was always direct and manly. His mind was not preoccupied and engrossed with political contests or with affairs of state. He had natural and cultivated tastes outside of those fields. He was a discriminating reader, and enjoyed not only serious books, but inclined also to the lighter indulgence of romance and poetry. St. Louis, June 13.—Nine thousand people assembled in the north nave of the exposition building tonight to listen to the welcoming concert given by the people of St. Louis to societies from all parts of the country. The scene in the great hall, which is magnificently decorated and brilliantly illuminated, was superb. A chorus of seventeen hundred voices, about 10,000 females, presented a most striking spectacle. VERY PLAIN TALK

About the Condition of Affairs in the State University.

Lyman H. Ford, of the Board of Visitors, Makes Some Remarkable Revelations
About the Institution.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: In compliance with the request of friends of the State uniersity, I beg to offer to the people the follows ing statement of facts about the university aside from the report given by the board of visitors to the governor: The state has spared neither labor money in providing expensive equipments to teaching intricate branches of science, such a chemistry, physics, civil engineering, etc. Thi apparatus is well cared for, and I have every reason to believe that in the hands of skillful teachers it is accomplishing the very end for which it was purchased. The library, too, is in which it was purchased. The horary, too, is in a good condition. Everything connected with it is in taste, and the young men who attend upon it cannot but be greatly benefited. Figures given to the board of visitors by the liian show that a fair per cent of the students use it. I would that I could speak so well of all I saw, but the truth forbids it. Sick people often take bitter doses in order to get well, and the surgeon must sometimes saw off a limb or two to save life. To say that the State university is, in many respects, in a bad condi-tion is putting it very mildly. In our report is a sentence like this: "We venture the sertion that in no university is there less im-(I quote from memory.) I do not mean to deny this, yet I do not know that it is true. I voted against its being put into the report because I had no occular proof that it was the fact. What is vice? If using tobacco is vice, then it seems to be almost universal there. No institution that ever I saw is so bad in this, The boys praise loudly some of the members of the faculty who "set up" the cigars at certain times. Is physical manhood worth anything to the state? Is it worth anything to these young men? What says their scie about tobacco and the physical man? hurtful or not to the average throat and brain and general nervous system? Did the state establish this delightful tobacco chair in the university? What is the degree? of Indecencies? I went into the recitation room, where the seniors were examining in chemistry. The air was full of the smoke Was there any young man in there whose mother had taken him to Sunday-school and who tried to teach him that respect for others was but common ency? Have refined people no rights in such a place? The railroads have reserved cars for such, but I am not sure that the State university has such a reserve. I mean by refined people those who are not ready to think that everybody enjoys smelling the tobacco vicions influence, especially on the young, Will some learned professor please prove that

Over the door to the chapel room, in which daily services are conducted, is in large words an advertisement of an eating house. This, I suppose, is nothing. Everywhere the lead pencil has done its perfect work in this line. The indecencies in the dornitories are entirely unmentionable. the dormitories are entirely unmentionable. But "boys will be boys" excuses it before 60 and decent men. When spoken of for the re-port it was objected to as not being immoral, and therefore to be overlooked as unhurtful to the institution. Where decency is at a discount mankind—and especially womankind-are sufferers. What is needed here is a pron are sufferers. What is needed here is a prominent officer known as missionary. That there are young men here whose parents would be shocked to see and know their true moral surroundings cannot be doubted They must wonder, when they return from college, what gave them all their daring impudence and disregard for all former teachings of purity, refinement and Christian grace. I know what does it. One mother was with her sick son. Did she see any of this revoluting No free transportation will be furnished. All parties desiring to go are requested to report their names to the committee, which consist of Messrs. W. L. Calhoun, Captain 42 Georgia Reg. C. S. A.; James F. Farrell, 5th Artillery N. Y. Vol.; George B. Forbes, Columbus Light Artillery, C. S. A.

Captain Forbes says that parties can stop over one day in Baltimore and go to Washington on the night train and remain in Washington City one day, but whole parties of twenty-five will have to keep together. He also states that if it is preferred the same arrangement can be made with the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad company, except Isshed for the geniuses in wood carving. This, again, is nothing, of course. One of the good members of the board of visitors argued that it could not be stopped. He was but recently a graduate from there and no doubt did a good deal of it himself, hence he could see nothing wrong about all this mutilation. To a casual observer the whole scene betokens an utter vant of discipling where every how; "that or want of discipline, where every boy is "put on his honor" before he has been taught the first letter of the alphabet of self-government bet of self-government or respect for property. One said, "Well, some great men have gone from these old dingy and much abused walls." No doubt of it, but many a boy goes away a harum-scarum rattle brain, who, under better surroundings, might have made a useful citizen. These years in young men's lives are fraught with too much of their future to be so neglected. I am a strong friend of this institution of learning, and in the name of higher education I pray that something will be done to saye it from that something will be done to save it from these terrible maladies that are fast killing it. There are excresences in the shape of incompetent men that need a sharp knife and a daring hand. During an eight days investigation, my eyes and ears, and nose combined to teach me that it needs executive New and vitalizing power must b saivation. New and vitalizing power must be found that can stop this reckless disregard of all that is sacred and dignified and ennobling in this great institution of learning. Such a power need not be looked for among those under whose eyes all these sins have been committed with impunity.

VERY PLAIN TALK

About the Condition of Affairs in the State University.

Lyman H. Ford, of the Board of Visitors, Makes Some Remarkable Revelations
About the Institution.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: In compliance with the request of friends of the State university, I beg to offer to the people the following statement of facts about the university aside from the report given by the board of the governor:

aside from the report given by the board of visitors to the governor:

The state has spared neither labor nor money in providing expensive equipments for teaching intricate branches of science, such as chemistry, physics, civil engineering, etc. This apparatus is well cared for, and I have every reason to believe that in the hands of skillful teachers it is accomplishing the very end for which it was purchased. The library, too, is in a cool condition. Everything connected with which it was purchased. The ilbrary, too, is in good condition. Everything connected with it is in taste, and the young men who attend upon it cannot but be greatly benefited. Figures given to the board of visitors by the liures given to the board of visitors by the librarian show that a fair per cent of the students use it. I would that I could speak so well of all I saw, but the truth forbids it. Sick people often take bitter doses in order to get well, and the surgeon must sometimes saw off a limb or two to save life. To say that the State limb or two to save life. To say that the State university is, in many respects, in a bad condition is putting it very mildly. In our report is a sentence like this: "We venture the assertion that in no university is there less immorality and vice than in this institution." (I quote from memory.) I do not mean to deny this, yet I do not know that it is true. I voted against its being put into the report because I had no occular proof that it was the fact. What is vice? If using tobacco is vice, then it seems to be almost universal there. No institution that ever I saw is so bad in this. institution that ever 1 saw is so one in this. The boys praise loudly some of the members of the faculty who "set up" the cigars at certain times. Is physical manhood worth anything to the state? Is it worth anything to these young men? What says their science then to become and the physical man? Is it about tobacco and the physical man? Is it hurtful or not to the average throat and brain and general nervous system? Did the state establish this delightful tobacco chair in the establish this delightful to dece chair in the university? What is the degree? Bacholor of Indecencies? I went into the recitation room, where the seniors were examining in chemistry. The air was full of the smoke. Was there any young man in there whose mother had taken him to Sunday-school and who tried to teach him that respect for others was but common cency? Have refined people no rights in such a place? The railroads have reserved cars for such, but I am not sure that the State university has such a reserve. I mean by refined people those who are not ready to think that everybody enjoys smelling the tobacco smoke they puff from their mouths. I hold that the use of tobacco is a vice and has a vicious influence, especially on the young. Will some learned professor please prove that I am wrong? All over some of the buildings, outside as well as inside, the malicious hands have defaced with knife, chalk, lead pencil, etc.

I am wrong? All over some of the buildings, outside as well as inside, the malicious hands have defaced with knife, chalk, lead pencil, etc.

Over the door to the chapel room, in which daily services are conducted, is in large words an advertisement of an eating house. This, I suppose, is nothing. Everywhere the lead pencil has done its perfect work in this line. The indecencies in the dormitories are entirely unmentionable. But 'boys will be boys' excuses it before God and decent men. When spoken of for the report it was objected to as not being immoral, and therefore to be overlooked as unhurtful to the institution. Where decency is at a discount mankind—and especially wonankind—are sufferers. What is needed here is a prominent officer known as missionary. That there are young men here whose parents would be shocked to see and know their true moral surroundings cannot be doubted. They must wonder, when they return from college, what gave them all their daring impudence and disregard for all former teachings of purity, refinement and Christian grace. I know what does it. One mother was with her sick son. Did she see any of this revolting indecency? The officer of the institution said to me: "You cannot go in that building. There is a sick boy in the third story." Yes, What, would I hurthim? was the query to me. Within a few windows of his was a drunk student, or a lunatic, or a Yahoo—I cannot tell which he was—howling like a madman. He, of course, did not hurt the sick student. The desks on which the students do their writing in the lecture rooms remind one of the carpenter's saw-horse. It looks as if a manual training feature should be established for the geniuses in wood carving. This, again, is nothing, of course, One of the good members of the beard of visitors argued that it could not be stopped. He was but recently a graduate from there and no doubt did a good deal of it himself, hence he could see nothing wrong about all this mutilation. To a casual observer the whole scene betokens an utter want of dis

Will Turner says the Atlanta club can play as good ball as any of the Southern league clubs. Atlanta can certainly play as well as any of those clubs have played when here.

Whitehurst seems to have seen his best days as a pitcher. Barnes and Luckie are now the best twirlers Columbus has. Butler is Savannah's best, and is considered the best in the league, although Atlanta will bank on both Turner and Lawshe,

Among the people of today, there are few indeed, who have not heard of the merits of Prickly Ash Bark and Berries, as a household remedy. Teas and drinks have been made of them for centuries, and in hundreds of families have formed the sole reliance in rheumatic and kidney diseases. Prickly Ash Bitters now take the place of the old system and is more beneficial in all troubles of this nature.

You cannot make a mistake in buying a lot there. It will always be valuable, and as the years increase in number the property will become more valuable. "Salt Springs," says Colonel Geo, Adair, "has a tuture before it that is brighter than any other place in the south. "What about the lots?" "They are well situated, choice in every respect, and will, in my opinion, double in value in less than six months. They are on a commanding site, haded by magnificent forest trees, and lie on the east and west side of the Chautuaqua grounds, itself a marvel of engineering and landscape skill." verse, where the hillsides are bathed in billows of beauty, the fleecy clouds are penciled with a silver lining and the air is freighted with health-laden zephyrs and every environment conducive to health, pleasure and happiness."
"I understand you will have an old-fashioned barbecue out there?"
"Just so. A grand excursion will be run from Atlanta on the day of sale, next Thursday, and a magnificent barbecue will be prepared by a thoroughly skilled professional chef de cuisine. Railroad rates will be reduced, excellent music will be discoursed; everybody will take a holiday, and be discoursed; everybody will take a holiday, and the ladies of Atlants and vicinity are especially invited to attend, as only their presence is needed to complete the picture of beauty at the Piedmont Chautauqua. The sale will begin at 10 o'clock. Tell everybody to go and see the Saratoga of the south and the great Piedmont Chautuaqua grounds."

Then do you mean to say that the cotton farmer, for example, is benefited by the protection on wool?

"Exactly. It keeps the wool men farm poaching on the cotton men's field. It is conceded by those best able to judge that Texas cannot raise sheep in competition with South America and Australia, where the natural advantages of cheap labor and better pasturage are so much greater. Now, if wool is put on the free list, then Texas wool growers would be driven out of their industry into some other pursuits for a livelihood. Texas lands are fertile and return a yield in cotton larger than the further eastern states. It is but natural that the previous wool-grower would become a cotton-grower. Now, watch the first result. The area of Texas is over 252,000 square miles and yields in cotton a bale to the acre. Therefore it would take less than 7 per cent of the area of Texas, that is, less than 19,000 square miles to produce the total cotton crop of, the United States. Put the wool-growers into cotton and you would quickly increase the crop from 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 bales. The addition of another million bales of American, cotton more than the world requires would cause a decline of at least two cents per pound. This would amount to $80,000,000. Now, what is the paltry protection on wool, a few cents extra on a pair of blankets, compared to an annual loss of $80,000,000 on decline in cotton? If our cotton farmers are not careful they will learn too late that while trying to save a dime they are actually losing a dollar."

NEW YORK STOCKS. Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock

NEW YORK, June 18.—The stock market was less active today, but it was somewhat firm and irregular and highly feverish, with special weakness in a few stocks. The result of the day's trading is to leave most of the list fractionally lower than lest night. There was considerable buying for than last night. There was considerable buying for London by arbitrage dealers. The opening was strong but professionals were inclined to resist the advance, and further lines of shorts were put all around the room. The declaration of a dividend on Western Union bad some little effect in rallying on Western Union bad some little effect in rallying the list, but the covering of shorts was the prioripal lever by which prices were lifted in the afternoon. The most severe pressure today was in trunk line securities and Lake Shore was a sufferer, and the attack upon Erle seconds was specially noticeable. Among the specialties Oregon Navigation made a marked drag, though a portion of the loss was afterward recovered. Chicago was a heavy seller of grangers, and this did much to restrict the after news avigance to the small proportions which it

Showing a decrease of NEW YORK, June 18-Hubbard, Price & Co., in their circular today, say: In consequence of lower Liverpool prices our market opened I point below last night. Offering was fee, partly as an effort to further weaken the market and to partly realize on long cotton. After declining 3 points the spuply was taken up. The freedom demand finally overlapped the offerings and a small reaction followed on which the oferings and a small reaction followed on which there was a recovering of 2 points. The position appeared to show a pretty good weeding out of tired long interest, but the main feature has been the reappearance of American spinners who bought 3,131 bales since last night. These free sales naturally checked the decling as they became known. The experisors also a small line of 200 bales. The demand is principally for better grades and is rapidly reducing the balance of our stock here to less desirable collent.

CHICAGO, June 13—There was considerable weal CHICAGO, June 13—There was considerable weakness shown in grains and provisions on change early today. The markets were unsettled and such news is was aloft was of conflicting character. The pits were without leaders, especially on the bull side, and with the crowd afraid of short markets and not enough bull news for good bitying. There was nerrousness all round. Wheat was first steady, then weak and then strong, and toward noon weakened a second time without much sign of smother rally, July sold at 8% c and back to $4%. Among the bullish influences were reports from France and Italy that crops there were in danger from the chinch bug. From this appearance the smaller proessionals got traded up around the top figures and were anxiously awaiting a chance to unload. With the exception of some buying of December, wheat, for foreign account and free selling by St. Louis, trading was almost exclusively local. St. Louis people sold on the reports that wheat would soon commence harvesting in the country south and west of them. July wheat reacted to $4% c and closed at 84%c. ness shown in grains and provisions on change earl

Receipts of corn were 708 cars, considerably more than the estimate, and prices opened %c under last night. The prospect of large receipts for tomorrow caused another set back after a rally had put prices up nearly 1c. Independent of special weakness aused by receipts, the situation appeared strong.
July opened at 52%, sold off to 52%, 52% and up to 53%, then back to 52%, and toward the close rallied a second time with wheat, and closed at 51%c, or %c over last night.

Oats were quiet and without special feature. July oats sold at 323%383s and closed at the latter figure.
The provision trade recovered little of its old time interest under the influence of advices vards where hogs were in better supply and lower The bear element felt encouraged to hammer the market. The morning opening was comparatively strong, but free selling turned the tide and from the highest prices touched. Pork declined 2%@7%c, lard 7%c and short ribs 10c. Later a considerable portion of this break was regained. July pork opened at $13.80, ranged between $13.60 and $13.87½ and closed at $13.77½. MARKETS AT MANCHESTER Prints Dull-Prices Offered Below Regular Rates.

MANCHESTER, Jane 13.—The Guardian's commercial article says that the market has a strong appearance. The mar-ket is decidedly quiet as far as actual transactions are concerned. Sellers and buyers report an ex ceedingly light business for Tuesday. There is a fair ceedingly light business for Tuesday. There is a fair demand in several departments, but the prices offered are often below the regular rates. Apparently the strong position of cotton has inspired producers with a sense of danger in entering into contracts on a basis of the present narrow margins, especially in the cloth departments, and they, therefore, are not disposed to accept low offers, when there is a prospect for better terms. There is a moderate inquiry for India and China staples, but it is largely impracticable. Business for smaller foreign markets is small. Export yarn departments are inactive, but steady. able. Business for smaller foreign markets is small. Export varn departments are inactive, but steady. Some sales to a fair amount for India are reported at full prices. Little has been done for China and the continent, with whom the manufacturers have bought sparingly. Business in the cloth departments has been light, and India and China shirtings are steady and fairly well engaged. Producers of fine and finer goods are anxious for fresh orders. Printing cloths are duil. Production is slowly lessening in some directions. Other finishing cloths fire quiet, within good demand. Heavy goods are arm. Sales are light.

THE PRESBYTERIANS.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Centennial Convention.

Three Interesting Sessions-Increased Attendance-Several Very Able Addreses-The Programme.

The Presbyterian centennial celebration goes bravely on with increment of interest at every meeting. There were three gatherings yesterday, one meeting at 10 o'clock in the morning, another at 4:30 in the afternoon and another at 8 o'clock last night. The exercises at each of these meetings were pleasant and able, and the congregations were large, profitable, and the congregations were large, filling the spacious auditorium of the Central Presbyterian church.

The Morning Session.

The committee on arrangements held a meeting at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in the lecture room of the chuoch. It was found that a considerable number of preachers and elders had arrived on the early morning trains. All these new comers were present and were assigned to homes with members of the congre-

At 10 o'clock the meeting was called to orde by Elder William A. Moore, there being a large congregation present.

The Rev. N. Keff Smith, "the sweet singer," was before the organ and he sung a solo effec-tively, the powerful notes of his voice flooding the building with melody. The opening prayer was made by the Rev.

Henry Hoyt. This was a simple, touching, beautiful invocation to the throne of grace.

beautiful invocation to the throne of grace.

"Before proceeding with the regular exercises as placed on the programme, there is a matter of business which should be attended to," said the chairman.

The matter of business was the election of officers, and it was quickly done.

The Hon. M. A. Chandler, of Decatur, was elected president, and Dr. J. M. Craig, of Atlanta, was chosen secretary.

Mr. Moore stated that the subject for discussion was "The Adaptation of Presbyterianism to the Masses," and that the Rev. William Adams, D. D., of Augusta, would address the convention.

liam Adams, D. D., of Augusta, would address the convention.

This was an address of great power, and it was enjoyed keenly by the congregation, and more especially by the preachers themselves. The speaker made some general remarks concerning the inherent vitality of the Presbyterian church; showed how these elements of strength had enabled it to expand wonderfully. He pointed out the good works which had been wrought by the church through its long and eventful career. Among other things, he said:

and eventful career. Among other things, he said:

The success which has marked the history of our church is the preaching of that gospel which is due to the power of old unto salvation. The Presbyttian ministry has succeeded in suilding up what we eliere the highest Christian organization of the world, and it has aided in building up characters of the noblest type. The Presbyterian church noids the belief that the gospel of truth is the universal corrective of evil. It has been the wisdom of the ministry of our church to hold to the gospel as the grand remedy for all the wees and wants of men, and that gospel must win the world to softiety, to purity, to culture, to godliness. The rapid accumulation of wealth, growth of luxury, the changes from opulence to want, the pressing in of vast masses of immigrants, the overstraining of industry, not to mention the desolations of war-al these things have not been favorable to spirituality, yet the church has kept pace with the growth of the nation. While the national guilt of the licensed sale of intoxicating drinks and the descenation of the Sabbash have gone on, the Word has been preached in its power.

Dr. Adams went on to show how the church had ever been solicitous to reach the masses and had vesched out after them. had ever been solicitous to reach the masses and had reached out after them. One this had ever been solicitous to reach the masses and had reached out after them. On this point he said:

"Our tenets are peculiarly adapted to the needs of the masses. Whether in the cottage or the garden, the wooded hills or the moorland, these principles find homes in the hearts of Scotland's sons and daughters. And why? Because these principles hold in them those elements of liberty which made Scotland strong and brave and good. We have not the low wit, jargon, and degrading buffoonery which have found place in some modern pulpits. Of no doctrine can it more truthfully be said: 'ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." The principles of self government, had their very birth and home in the fresbyterian church. While maintaining its grand distinguished principle of the spirituality of its mission, it has grown in the affections and in the lives of the people. It has founded benevolent and philosophical societies, libraries, hospitals. Our church has stood abreast with the progress of the world. It has been a principle of our church has stood abreast with the progress of the world. It has been a principle of our church has our ministers must be educated, and that there must be among them a class of deeply learned men; and while we have held that both are necessary. The masses are at school. The masses are not classes. To meet the needs of the masses we must have trained and consecrated pastors. A church so richly endowed with consecrated talent and learning should come up, and must come up to a higher degree of usefulness.

and learning should come up, and must come up to a higher degree of usefulness.

Dr. Adams spoke for nearly an hour and held his hearers closely all the time. He covered every phase of his subject.

The president invited Dr. Stewart to speak, and this eloquent preacher and distinguished missionary responded in an exceedingly effec-tive address. Short addresses were made by Mr. Candler The chairman read the announcements for the afternoon and evening meetings.

The congregation sang the long meter doxology and was dismissed with the benediction.

The Afternoon Session. When the meeting began the congregation was small, but the pews gradually filled, and before the exercises were finished the church contained a very large crowd of earnest listen

Professor W. W. Lumpkin presided.

The Rev. N. Keff Smith was at the organ and conducted the singing.

The venerable Dr. John Jones, of this city, made the opening prayer. It was a model petition—brief, comprehensive, fervent.

President Lumpkin announced that the Rev. James Stacy, D. D., of Newnan, would read an essay on "Presbyterian Polity."

Dr. Stacy's address was exceedingly interesting, holding the exclusive attention of the congregation for nearly an hour. In the treatment of this subject Dr. Stacy discovered much learning and theological lore. His style is perspicious, logical, direct. He covered a great deal of ground, and stated his proposition with great clearness. His illustrations were natural and vivid. His conclusions were convincing. His reasoning carried conviction in its train. It was a masterful disquisition the doctr nes of Calvanium, and is well worth publishing in full. The hasit to this report, however, will not admit of this.

The president called upon the Rev. R. K. Walker, of Decatur, for a ten minutes' address. This gifted young preacher gave a delightful off-handed talk. He said that he inherited Presbyterianism; that so far as he knew every relation he had in the world was a Presbyterian. He told why he preferred this church to any other. He took the position that this was the oldest of all churches. This, he said, could be established by the best authority. He insisted that all the other evangelical churches had emanated from the parent oak; were branches. The various churches had diverged, and they are now converging. He expressed the belief that all these churches are swerving back into the original track. He dilated upon the beautiful distinctive characteristics of the President and here to supply the places of the absent speakers. No one responded, and after making certain announcements regarding future meetings President Lumpkin adjourned the meetings President Lumpkin adjourned

The opening prayer was made by the Rev. J.

The venerable Dr. John Jones, of this city, made the opening prayer. It was a model petition—brief, comprehensive, fervent.

President Lumpkin announced that the Rev. James Stacy, D. D., of Newnan. would read an essay on "Presbyterian Polity."

Dr. Stacy's address was exceedingly interesting, holding the exclusive attention of the congregation for nearly an hour. In the treatment of this subject Dr. Stacy discovered much learning and theological lore. His style is perspicious, logical, direct. He covered a great deal of ground, and stated his proposition with great clearness. His illustrations were natural and vivid. His conclusions were convincing. His reasoning carried conviction in its train. It was a masterful disquisition in the doctr nes of Calvantsm, and is well worth publishing in full. The limit to this report, however, will not admit of this.

The president called upon the Rev. R. K. Walker, of Decatur, for a ten minutes' address. This gifted young preacher gave a delightful off-handed talk. He said that he inherited Presbyterianism; that so far as he knew every relation he had in the world was a Presbyterian. He told why he preferred this church to any other. He took the position that this was the oldest of all churches. This, he said

Second Day's Proceedings of the Centennial Convention.

Three Interesting Sessions—Increased Attendance—Several Very Able Addresse—The Programme.

The Presbyterian centennial celebration goes bravely on with increment of interest at every meeting. There were three gatherings yesterday, one meeting at 10 c'clock in the morning, another at 4.30 in the attentoon and another at 8 o'clock last night. The exercises at each of these meetings were pleasant and profitable, and the congregations were large, filling the spacious auditorium of the Central Presbyterian church.

The Morning Session.

The committee on arrangements held a meeting at 9 o'clock yesterday norming in the lecture room of the chucch. It was found that a considerable number of preachers and elders had arrived on the early morning trains. All these new comers were present and were assigned to homes with members of the congregation.

At 10 c'clock the meeting was called to order by Elder William A. Moore, there being a large congregation present.

The Nev. N. Keff Smith, "the sweet singer, was before the organ and he sung a solo effectively, the powerful notes of his voice flooding the building with melody.

The opening prayer was made by the Rev. Henry Hoyt. This was a simple, touching, beautiful invocation to the throne of grace.

"Before proceeding with the regular exercises as placed on the programme, there is a matter of business which should be attended to," said the chairman.

The matter of business was the election of efficers, and it was quickly done.

The Hon. M. A. Chandler, of Decatur, was elected president, and Dr. J. M. Gralg, of Abanta, was a not provided the programme, there is a matter of business which should be attended to," said the chairman.

showed themselves wherever a herole struggle was to be made against the encroachments of power in church or state.

The teachings of Calvin, which we call Calvinism, did not constitute a creed criginal with him, but were powerful expositions of the creed which was taught by the aposities. With a great intellect, which had been freed, even in his youth, from the tyranny of tradition and the influence of authority and the sophistries of the schools and improved by the broadest culture, ne devoted his great powers to the task of giving method and form to the ideas of the reformation, and snaping from them a doctrive and a polity which have been, wherever received, the great creators and conservators of civil as well as religious liberty.

Judge Nisbet gave here an elaborate historical sketch which showed how active and brave Presbyterians were in the early days of the republic. He recited numerous touching incidents and marshaled a triumphant array of facts. "And fin our own country," said he, "Presbyterianism was the principal power in securing the declaration of the independence of the colonies, in sustaining their appeal to arms, and in giving form to the government under which we live. This is not an extraver.

securing the declaration of the independence of the colonies, in sustaining their appeal to arms, and in giving form to the government under which we live. This is not an extravagant statement, but is one of the cold, hard facts in our history."

Judge Nisbet closed his most scholarly and beautiful address as follows:

It should be permitted Presbyterians on this centennial occasion to show some exultation. They have a right to be proud of their great apostolic church, which is today the largest Protestant church in the world. They have a right to be proud of the record which it has made in its devotion to human rights. They have a right to be proud of the record which it has made in its devotion to human rights. They have a right to be proud of the record which it has made in its devotion to human rights. They have a right to be proud of American liberties. They have a right to be proud of the record which it has maltained through all the religious and political changes of the centuries. They have a right to be proud of their not an apostolic succession in the transmission of ecclesiastical functions which cannot be established, but that succession of sound doctrine which they have received from St. Paul, St. Augustine, Caivin, Knox, Witherspoon and Edwards, and they have neesived from St. Paul, St. Augustine, Caivin, Knox, Witherspoon and Edwards, and they have neesived from St. Paul, St. Augustine, Caivin, Knox, Witherspoon and Edwards, and they have received from the principles of that government is devotion to the church.

great creative, force of that government. We trust that it has a century of prosperity and of peace before it, but if its banner has to be raised in conflict of argument or of arms, may it beer upon its folds the old legend: "A church without a bishop and a state without a king."

The president introduced the Hon. Clifford The president introduced the Hon. Clifford Anderson, who continued the discussion. He said he felt somewhat embarrassed in following Judge Nisbet who had so elaborately treated the question under consideration. He promised that his address should be brief.

"The government of the Presbyterian church," said he, "is sui generis. It is modelled after none of the existing forms of civil government. Whilst equally opposed to the two extremes of a monarchy on the one hand and a extremes of a monarchy on the one hand and a pure democracy on the other, its opposition is based wholly on the belief that they are alike unwarranted by the teachings of Scripture. The Presbyterian church accepts and promulgates as one of its cardinal tenets—applicable to its polity as well as to doctrine—that "the sacred Scriptures" are, in themselves, "a porfect rule of faith and practice." In spiritual affairs it acknowledges "no king but Christ." It takes none of the tenets of its faith from earthly potentates or powers and constructs no part of its creed with materials derived from any system of political government whatever. In part of its creed with materials derived from any system of political government whatever. In fashioning the articles of its faith, it knows neither expediency nor policy, and is as hostile to worldly conformity in respect to its forms of government and worship as it is in reference to the more fundamental doctrines of its religious besief. The principles embodied in its constitution do form the basis of civil government in a number of instances. They are of divine origin, and are derived alike by the church and the state, from the same source, viz: the Bible. Wherever they have been incorported in civil constitutions, as, for example, in Great Britain and in this country, it has been done through the agency of men, who being pillars in the church, become also pillars in the state.

federal congress are legislative only, and the same difference exists between the session, the presbytery and the synod, and like representative local bodies in the government of the states. So, in the church its congress consists of one body of representatives only, whilst in our federal government the congress consists of two bodies, the senate and house. But these are matters of form merely. In essential particulars the resemblance is "close and striking." In both church and state the governing bodies are composed of representatives elected by the people and in the constitution of each checks are provided against the usurpation of powers not delegated, and means are furnished by which attempted usurpations may be nullified. So that each establishes "a government by the people and for the people," and, what is best of all, each draws its fundamental principles from the same source, viz: the Sacred Scriptures.

from the same source, viz: the Sacred Scriptures.

God grant that the analogy which now exists may be perpetual; that the grand republic established by our federal constitution, may, like the "free Christian commonwealth" established by the constitution of the church, live through all coming time. But alas! all civil governments are liable to change, and man's capacity for political self-government is still regarded as an unsolved problem.

Not so with the church. If the government of our church is, as we firmly believe, of Divine origin, it will continue as to its fundamental principles like its Divine author and founder; amid change, changeless; amid decay, enduring. So long as it is loyal to its Great Head, it will defend and preserve, at whatever cost, that system of doctrine and government which He Himself has established.

To do this, however, we must guard our trust with sleepless vigilance. The Pres-To do this, however, we must guard our trust with sleepless vigilance. The Presbyterian church has always recognized it as one of the most important parts of its high and sacred mission to conserve the truth in its purity and integrity and to resolutely resist all attempted innovations on the doctrines of the Bible.

If we would do our part to perpetuate civil and religious liberty in this favored land, and above all, if we would be loyal and true to our high and sacred mission as a church, let us guard with vigilance the temple of truth—the fountain of life and hope—and let us keep our zeal for the simple faith of our fathers, like the vestal fires, perpetually burning."

5 Strawberry and Truck Farms AT AUCTION Thursday, June 14th, 4 P. M. 6 Acres in Each Farm, 3 Miles From Kimball House.

BY THE M'PHERSON MONUMENT

Free Conveyances Leave Our Office 3 to Persons looking for a small and desirable suburban tract of land, can be suited at this sale. To appreciate these lots they should be seen. The soil has a gray loany top with clay subsoil. It is sufficiently rolling to drain well and the whole of it is fresh land in a good state of cultivation. There is a bold branch through all the five lots, and there are three good springs. There are about five acres of bottom land, properly drained. There are 7 acres of strawberries in good condition; 5 acres of these averaged about $2.00 an acre from this year's crop. There are over 4 acres in thrifty, choice grape vineyard, 3,000 sines bearing for three years. The subdivision distributes the strawberries and grapevines so that each of the five lots contains part of them and each has ample running water. The whole of present crop of grapes will go to the respective purchasers of the lots. The other crops belong to tenants, but purchasers get the rent in money this year. It is a pleasant and almost level drive out to this property by Decatar street, though Reynoldstown, and by the Flat Shouls road and McPherson or Welham avenue. The neighborhood is constantly being improved by new cottages pretty dairy, chicken and truck farms, and every year the prices have advanced. Recent surveys indicate that a railroad will pass near or through this property do say nothing of the dumny line in prospect. This sale really gives those seeking a home or a small country place a rare chance, and all may attend knowing that the property will be sold fairly on its merits without reserve. The titles are perfect; terms ½ cash, the remainder in 6, 12 and 18 months, with 8 per cent interest. THE CHAUTAUQUA. The Great Pyrotechnic Contest at the Grounds. dred Men Wanted to Work on the Grounds-The Sale of Lots.

It is 26,452 minutes, including nights until the gates of the Piedmont Chautauqua are Prown open to the ne Important Chautanqua Contracts. The contract for electric lights at the Chau The contract for electric lights at the Chautauqua, has been awarded to Mr. Howeil Palmer, of the Thompson Houston company. They will put up a combined plant of arclights, and incandesent lights. There will be twenty-five arc lights and three hundred incandescent lights which will make the grounds as brilliant as day. The electricians coe out this morning to start the work.

The contract for the steam plant for electric lights was awarded to Messrs. Lederle & Cook. Mr. Lederic went out yesterday and the foundations for botters will be commenced to-day. This firm is doing a large amount of work for the Chantauqua, and its name is a guarantee of the excellence of the work. The contract for the pumping station, and he mile and a half of five-inch pipe was

The ceptract for the pumping station, and the mile and a half of five-tach pipe was awarded to. Humicutt & Beiingrath at 12 o'clock, and yesterday evening the boiler was on the train an route to Balt Springs, and Mr. Bellingrath took a force of workmen out and the work will be begun this morning. This contract for piping is an interesting one. The boanches running into the lake were not thought sufficient to keep it pure and fresh. A new source of snpply was found in a clear spring branch, a mile and a half away, which will deliver 300,000 gallons of water per day. The pumping station will be made at this branch and the water will be forced to the lake, 222 feet above. The supply is perfect, and the water is cold and sparking.

Mr. DeWitt, civil engineer, has a force of one hundred men cutting out the lake and making the dam. The lake will be nine hundred feet long and about four hundred feet wide, with an island and several immense trees. The bottom of the lake will be pebbled with gravel brought on the Georgia Pacific train, and will be as clear and fresh as a big spring. A figet of twenty boats will be put on, and one hundred feet will be reserved as a swimming pool. A bath house will be received, and delicious plunge bath and swimming provided for.

Each of these contractors agrees that his work shall be finished in time for the opening. The contractors are full of enthusiasm, and every department of the work will be pushed through every inch of daylight from new until the opening of the Chautauqua grounds.

The Pyrotechnic Contest.

The Pyrotechnic Contest.

The great pyrotechnic contest at Piedmont Chautacqua is exciting great interest throughout the country, and new firms are negotiating to enter. On yesterday Messrs. James Palmer & Sons, of Rochester, N. Y., famous men in their lines, telegraphed President Kiser, stating that they desired to enter the contest, and asking for particulars. This firm took the gold medal in Atlanta, in 1881, at the cotton exposition, and propose to come back and try it over. They have given immense displays in Louisville, Memphis, and other southern cities, and are, of course, well known throughout the north. This makes four firms that have already entered in writing for the contest, and assures pyrotechnic displays for four nights such as have never been seen in this country.

Men to Work. Any reputable man, who wants to work can get it at Piedmont Chautauqua by collecting a force of twenty or more laborers at ninety eents a day, and reporting to John R. Wilkinson, sacretary. Good wages will be paid to the organizers of squads. Two hundred men gan get employment at Piedmont Chautauqua by applying at once.

*Chautauqua Chips. Fifty people at least came in on the various, trains her hight to attend the great sale of lots at Chautauqua. The old advertisement which gave the 14th as the day misled them and they did not know of the pestponement. Many of them will go out this morning and attempt to purchase land at private sale.

Several lots were sold yesterday and cottages will be begun. Among the purchasers were Mrs. Walter Gordon, Calonel J. W. Baum and others.

FITLER OF PHILA,

The Latest Republican Candidate for President.

A BOOM WHICH WILL NEVER BOOM But May Serve Its Purpose of Side-Tracking Some Other Man—Chicago Talks—

Other Convention News.

WASHINGTON, June 14 .- [Special.]-Republican legislators, senators and members who are supposed to be familiar with the needs of are supposed to be familiar with the needs of the country from a republican standpoint, are to frame the Chicago platform. Most of it is already prepared. Senator Hoar, who is slated for permanent chairmanship of the convention, has prepared the civil service plank, which deals with the president in Hoar's well known malignant style. John J. Ingalls, of Kansas, has fully gratified his spleen in com-ments interjected into the pension plank, which the judge-advocate-general of Kansas militia has drawn. Senator Plumb bids big for the northwestern states in a public land for the northwestern states in a public land plank, which he has prepared. The house's hare in the platform comes from McKinley and Reed. They have worked over the minorand Reed.

Some of them are going west tonight, and some not until Satur-All of them are interested in booms, some for themselves and some for friends. Senator Sherman is more attentive to con-gressional duty than any other senator of his ide the chamber. He sticks closely to his The republican senators seem to be as much at sea in regard to the probable action of the Chicago convention as any of the less promiment men of their party. Senator Farwell, the Washington manager of the Gresham move-ment, has gone out to join with the other Gresham leaders in effecting a compact or-ganization of their forces. Senator Quay has been in Pennsylvania for some days, and leaves his home in that state tonight for Chicago. He has been actively at work in be-half of Senator Sherman. The mention of the name of Mayor Fitler, of Philadelphia, as a presidential candidate is said to be a shrewd move of Senator Quay to satisfy the Pennsylvania delegation for Sherman. That delegation has been divided, some favoring Sherman, others Blaine several for Harrison, and two or three for Gresham and Alger. As the Fitler boom is interpreted here, it means that Senator Quay and his followers will give the Philadelphia mayor the compliment of a unamimous vote at first, if the delegation, when it shall becomes apparent that Fitler cannot be nominated, will go for Sherman, and nobody seems to believe there is any staying quality in the Fitler boom. There is a very decided impression among some of the republican sena-tors that General Harrison, of Indiana, will be on the ticket for either first or second place. This impression grows out of the importance that is attached to carrying Indiana. The ticket of Harrison and Hawley is named by some republicans as one likely to be placed in

"It is a ticket," said a republican senator today, "that would make us sure of two of the doubtful states, Indiana and Connecticut. Should an eastern man get the first place some of the republicans predict that Harrison will be named for second place. The republicans believe that the ignoring of Indiana's claims by the democratic convention has created a feeling of dissatisfaction among the democrats in that state that will make it easy for the republicans to carry it if they put an Indiana HARRISON FIRST - THEN GRESHAM.

How Indiana Delegates Will Manage Their

Curcago, June 14 .- The very first combina tion between the friends of any two candidate was brought to a culmination today. The forces of Harrison and Gresham have been harmonized. It was an Indiana family gathering. Among the Harrison leaders present were Attorney General Mitchenor, ex-Congressman Peele, and Secretary of State Griffin. Gresham's representatives included C. W. Fairbanks, of Indianapolis, State Senator Robert Graham, and Colonel Henry Drew. lowers of Harrison and Gresham were men-tioned, and both sides recognized the folly of the friends of two Indiana men coming to Chicago and fighting each other. The upshot was an understanding substantially that the friends of Harrison and Gresham should not attack or attempt to undermine each other: that both sides should do the best they could for their man, but all in the friendliest spirit, and that the Indiana delegates should vote solidly from the start to the finish when the time came. When it should become evident in the convention that Harrison could not be the nominee, then Gresham should be accorded the support of his native state.

him now and all the time."

An informal reception given by the Veteran Union league of Chicago, to Mrs. John A. Logan, at the Grand Pacific tonight, created stir which was nothing short sensational. It was ostensibly under the auspices of the soldiers organi-zation, but the presence of "Logan" Jones, the recently deposed chairman of the Illinois committee and protege of the late sena tor from Illinois, soon dispelled everything of a sentimental and political nature, and the af-fair became apparent. It had for its object the mutilation of whatever solidness there was to the Gresham movement in Illinois and though to be a mute appeal to the friends of General Logan to support Mrs. Logan's candidate—Governor Alger, of Michigan. In one instance the appeal became outspoken, and that was when the distinguished lady was conversing with two soldiers, each a delegate from Illinois and Michigan respectively. It was then she voiced the tope that the two states would stand shoulde to shoulder as they did in times past, which have now become so historical and in which General Logan played quite a prominent part.

The Gresham sentiment has received a severe check, and many of the soldiers present deprecated the action taken by the widow of the most popular volunteer soldier of the age. To make the move more significant and possibly more binding, Mr. Jones has invited every delegate, who would go, to Waukesha, his residence, where tomerrow is to be spent in the company of Mrs. Logan and her late husband's cousin, Dr. Logan. Mrs. Logan has en-tered into the canvass for Governor Alger with her old time energy, spiced
